Thursday July 25th United Airlines Technicians were in Federal Court for the Initial Case Management Conference held at the Phillip Burton Federal Building in downtown San Francisco. We would like to thank all the United Technicians who showed up to support our case and the fight for our right to additional Pension Benefits outlined in LOA 05-03M negotiated by United Technicians during Bankruptcy Negotiations in 2005.

Docket #59 - The July 23rd Minute Order On Tuesday, July 23rd, the court issued a “minute order,” a short statement entered into the docket, Docket #59, stating oral argument was not necessary regarding the Motions to Dismiss, the matter was under submission to the court, and the court would make its ruling on the documents at a future date. The court, however, in the same minute order, stated the Initial Case Management Conference would occur as scheduled on July 25th. This statement by the court is attached here.

On July 25th there were two matters for the court – the Motions to Dismiss filed by the Defendants and the Initial Case Management Conference – as part of the ongoing litigation.

Docket #60 - The July 25th Hearing the parties were all present on July 25th and were briefly before the court. The court stated holding off on actually going through the process of the Initial Case Management Conference was best held off until the court ruled on the Motions to Dismiss. The court stated the caption of the case could be changed to reflect the name change of United Airlines parent company from United Continental Holdings to United Airline Holdings. The court later issued a “Minutes of Hearing,” filed as Docket #60 to document the proceedings.

Our case is moving forward. Please be patient and know we are working as hard as ever to bring forward your causes of action.
